Abbi Lawson contestant on the Great British Bake-Off

Abbi is a forager, baker and self-proclaimed food experimentalist, who recently appeared as a contestant on the Great British Bake-Off. She enjoys experimenting with novel ways to flavour cakes and desserts using seasonal and locally grown vegetables.

When not baking or foraging, Abbi works for a vegetable growers' co-operative. At the heart of her work is exploring the ways in which the food that we eat connects us to the place and planet we call home.

Non-members, including men, and members from other WI branches are welcome to attend at the cost of £5.00.
